UNIVERSITY OF LOWELL • VOL. 12 • LOWELL, MA

College, it's not just "going to school", it's a way of life, an adventure. But make no mistake—it's not all wild times, there are plenty of maddening frustrating moments along with bouts of sheer boredom. These are all part of what some like to call "continuing education."

Some elements of the college experience are sharply restricted by where you live—the dorms, an apartment, or (perish the thought) at home. Others, however, are universal to all who attend (to qoute one cynical professor) "the temple of learning." Consider if you will the chaotic phenomena known as REGISTRATION. No one can escape the world of white IBM cards, pink registration cards, blocked schedules, cancelled classes, and of course the gargantuan waiting lines. And woe to the student who owes money to the bursar or has an overdue library book. These poor souls get a quick lesson in "How to Talk Your Way Out of Anything."

The good news is that registration only occurs twice a year. The bad news is that registration is followed by an equally discouraging event called BUYING BOOKS. The object of this game is to buy all the books you need while spending the least amount of money possible, and of course, avoiding the treacherous lines both inside and outside the book-store. The tricky part is doing this before the book-store runs out of the books that you need.

Occasionally a student survives both registration and buying books only to find that he wants, for some reason or another, to switch classes. This is called ADD/DROP. Add/ Drop can get seriously complicated because step one often requires a student to be in two places at once so that he can drop one class and add another, and of course both classes meet at the same time. Industrious students quickly learn the lesson, "How to Forge the Professor's Signature." Step two involves finding your advisor so that he too can sign your add/drop slip. Some students actually succeed in their quest, while others learn "How to Forge Your Advisor's Signature." The semi-final step in this process is making a pilgrimage to that great mecca—The Registrar's Office. Here the student is once again confronted with seemingly endless lines, which lead up to semi-automated secretaries who will stamp your add/drop slip to make them "Official." South campus students often find the cross-river trip too disheartening and for this reason have come up with the idea of a "Designated Dropper (DD)." The DD is usually paid by those who realize he is venturing to the North. The final step of add/drop is taking carbon copies of the add/drop slips back to all the people whose names the student probably forged, and consequently he will probably skip this step. Once a student had completed (and forgotten) add/drop, it comes back to haunt him. The Bursar, a diety close in rank with The Registrar, sends each student a pretty pink bill charging him $5.25 for each of the pretty blue slips he gave to the semi-automated secretaries.

Sooner or later the student plows his way through the prelilminaries and actually GOES TO CLASS. Going to class (do not pass go, do not collect $200.00) is a great past time of college students everywhere. It can be played two ways depending on the status of the course. If a course is required, the number of students enrolled in the lecture outnumber the number of seats in the lecture hall two to one. If a class is an upper level elective, the amount of seats will outnumber the students three to one. In the former of the two, a professor's creativity is challenged. He must think of new and exciting ways to scare off, or flunk out two thirds of the class. Fortunately (or unfortunately) this practice is generally restricted to freshman engineering and physical therapy classes. In the latter of the two, a student's creativity is challenged, he must discover ingenious ways to convince the professor he is attending classes, even if he is

This brings us to another great past-time of college students known as SKIPPING CLASS. There are no rules for skipping class; it can be done anytime, for any reason, and as often as preferred. A student is expected, however, to pay the consequences if he still has not learned "How to Talk Your Way Out of Anything." Skipping class is not so much of an art form as are the reasons for doing it. "I was sick, my grandmother (or some other relative) died, my car wouldn't start," and "I overslept" are examples of common one-class absence excuses. For several absenses the student must come up with less trivial excuses such as, "I've been having personal problems, I was going to quit school but changed my mind," and the all-purpose excuse, "I had mono." Professors aren't really interested in why the student missed class anyway—he just wants to know when the work will be made up. After all, why do you think professors tell you how many "unexcused absenses" students are allowed in the first place?

Many students feel their college experience is not complete if they haven't live in a dorm. Unfortunately for them, here at the University of Lowell we don't have "dorms," we have "residence halls." For some strange reason the administration has done away with the "dorms." It is thought, however that the two experiences are similar.

Roommates. By whim of some computer hidden away in the Dean of Housing's office, students are paired off as roommates. Unlike some schools that try to match up compatible roomies (Simular to computer dating) the University of Lowell throws names into the computer and each student comes out assigned to a small cube inside of a bigger cube. Those students who are not fortunate enough to get a room are then put on THE WAITING LIST. WHILE SENTENCED TO "wait" for an inderminate amount of time, these students miss out on some of the finer points of residence hall life. While each hall has its own peculurlarities, they all have two things in common. The least dangerous is the weekly visits from the Lowell fire department for the FIRE DRILLS. Fire drills occure with (no pun intended) alarming frequency, and seem to have a propensity for Thursday nights. Students are rudely jarred awake by the steady bleating of the fire alarm and forced to stumble, bed-clad, down the stairs out into the night. As if this were not bad enough, once the firefighters, fully equipped with axes and rubber coats, deem that there is no fire, students must haul themselves back up the stairs to the comfort of their beds. This is an especially traumatic ordeal for those who live in Fox hall upper towers. No one enjoys trekking up 18 flights. The second is THE MEAL PLAN. For anywhere from $600.00 to $900.00 students can buy little plastic cards with their names and pictures on them. The little card allows students to eat specified food at specified times. The average meal consists of mystery meat with gravy, water-logged vegetables, super spuds, cookies, cake or choice of carbohydrate, and a non-alcoholic beverage. All students who live in the residence hall must purchase the meal plan.

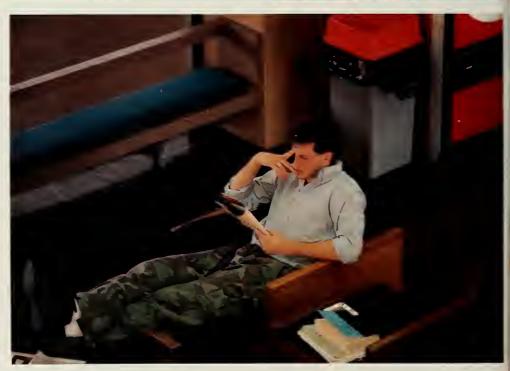

Meanwhile, at "Bogus" and "Leitch", some lost soul is trying to get into the building, but can't, because he lost his SENSOR CARD. Sensor cards were designed to keep non-residents out, and to a point have succeeded, except that they also keep residents out.

Some students choose to live off-campus in buildings owned by people called SLUMLORDS. The average slum-lords own vast amounts of properties and makes vast amounts of money by renting to students. Typically, the average student apartment has ugly paneling on the walls, rotting linoleum on the kitchen floor, moth-eaten rugs on the remainder of the floors, leaky plumbing, mice, and rooms the size of a Fotomat booth. The apartment experience is supposed to give the student a taste of "real-life" responsibilities. In all actuality it teaches them to stay in school so that they won't have to live in a "college" apartment forever.

Other students live at home and are called COMMUTERS. Commuters are often pitied because they have to get up early to drive into school, and face a drive home at the end of the day. In all actuality commuters do not dread the drive to and from school. Their true nemesis is the parking lot; they face a daily battle called PARKING. "The Early Student Gets the Space" is the motto of the commuter. For $5.00 a student can purchase a parking sticker from the campus police. This, however, does not automatically guarantee the student a parking space. Left to their own devices, commuters invented the game "create a space," which is also known as "creative parking." The rules of the game are very simple. After traversing the lots for a "legal space" and finding none, students are allowed to park their cars in any available space in the immediate area. The object of the game is to avoid the evil parking monsters. The less dangerous of the monsters is "ugly Rita-meter maid." Rita dispenses little orange tickets which charge students $10.00 for parking where they shouldn't have. Students usually ignore the little orange tickets, or they use them bookmarks. The real terror of commuters is the dreaded "Kamikazee towing monsters." The Kamikazees sneak up on unsuspecting cars, take them hostage, and hold them for ransom. Students are forced to pay the evil Chief Kamikazee if they want their cars in one piece. Unfortunately sometimes even if they pay the ransom their cars are never quite the same again.

Some say the highlight of a student's college experience is the "social life." The college social life can be divided into two categories—on-campus partying and off-campus partyting. On-campus partying is usually censored in some way but is still quite popular—especially with under-age drinkers. Off-campus partying is more expensive and requires an I.D. of some sort, yet it too remains popular-especially with underage drinkers.

The majority of on-campus partying is organized by people students refer to as Greeks. Greeks are not necessarily descendents of the Hellenic race, rather they are a breed unto themselves. By day the Greeks are like most students—they go class, they skip class, they study, but unlike other students they are required to do many "good deeds," to make up for all the partying they do by night. In spite of all the other activities they do, Greeks are still (and with pride) regarded as the party experts. The remainder of on-campus parties are held in the residence halls, and are forbidden by the administration, which is why Greek parties and off-campus parties are better attended.

Some off-campus partying occurs in apartments. The idea here is to cram as many students as possible into the apartment so they all can worship the silver-god called THE KEG. Students spend their time quaffing down as many beers as possible before the keg is empty. Once the keg is empty they seek out a new party or they go to a club. Clubs are popular because of the live entertainment, dancing, but mostly because of the cheap beer? l. Due to the stricter laws pertaining to alcohol, many students avoid clubs because they are either underage or they don't want to have to drive home. In any case, if a student has thoroughly learned "How to Talk Your Way Out of Anything," club paryting is

The college experience culminates in GRADUATION. Many college students never get to experience graduation, but for those that do it, it must be a memorable moment. After all, what could top off hours of languishing away in the sun, wearing a black tent on your body and a black bookend on your head, while listening to someone too far away to see, say how proud he is of each and every one of you.

THE ALL NIGHTER

When your eyes start to burn and your body starts to shake, you know it's time. When you're down to your last cup of diet Coke and your blood is over 40 percent caffine, you know it's time. When the sun comes up before you lie down, you know it's time. That's when you know it's time for bed.

Unfortunately, the college experience couldn't be complete without describing something many students have experienced -- the 'all-nighter'. Most college students pull at least one all nighter during finals or just before finals when everything is due. It seems that professors all get together to devise schedules that deprive students of sleep.

Most all-nighters happen spontaneously which makes them all the more exciting. Everything becomes a race against time. Without planning to stay up much later, the student looks at the clock and insists he'll make it to bed by 2 a.m., but an hour later he extends it to 4 a.m. After realizing that he still isn't done, the student makes a last-ditch effort to finish by deciding to stay up all night to finish.

The rest of the day becomes a blur for the student that pulls an all nighter-a direct result of sleep deprivation. People talk to him but he doesn't remember the conversations. He walks from one class to the other but doesn't remember sights along the way. He ends up unrolling the window while driving to prevent himself from falling asleep at the wheel. That burning question kept going through his mind, "Was it really worth it?"

College students from Massachusettes to California all know what it feels like to wait until the last minute and to try to finish it all by doing one thing...Pulling the all nighter!

STRETCHING THE LIMITS Conference

Camp Miniwanca in Shelby Michigan was the place where ten University of Lowell students were sent to attend the National Collegiate Leadership Conference. Each student was chosen from different parts of the university to develop a well-rounded group of student leaders. Everyone had different backgrounds, most had different majors, and nobody really knew each other. The only thing they had in common was the fact that they would be attending this conference on the shores of Lake Michigan.

The chosen group consisted of Mark Cabral, Assistant to the Director of Residence Life; Jeff Challenger, President of National Society of Black Engineers; Lisa Cuoco, President of the Residence Hall Association; Pattie Cullum, Editor-in-Chief of the Connector; Bob Czarniak, Activities Commision Director; Don Gagnon, Vice President of the S.G.A.; Pam Jones, a Resident Advisor of Fox Hall; Peter Murphy, President of Phi Psi; Sean Noonan, President of IFSC; Mike Pauley, President of the Class of 1987; and Dean Thomas Taylor, Assistant Dean of Students.

They assembled at Concordia Hall on August 7th with sleeping bags, bug repellent, and all the provisions needed for a week of camping. August 8th at 4:30 a.m. was the time they all left in a van for their long 2 day drive to Michigan. Although they knew they were going to a camp, they never expected such rustic conditions. The cabins had canvas tarps to cover the windows and there were bunk beds with very thin mattresses. The only thing showing any ties to the outside world was the running water and electricity in the bathroom, The bathroom was found by traveling down a long path through the sand.

But the rustic conditions and cool weather didn't dampen the students fun. The University of Lowell's group was among ten colleges and universities from all over the United States chosen to participate in this conference. The days started when the sun rose and ended far after it set, but each day was a learning experience filled with fun and excitement.

Each day consisted of core sessions that caused the students and advisors to use their bodies and mind. Classes on group dynamics, personal balance and integrity, as well as the anatomy of leadership were taught. Throughout the conference students were taught to structure their lives to include the four phases of life — physical, mental, social, and religious. Everyone was asked to evaluate their own lives to decided which phase needed to work on to balance out a healthy way of living.

There were swim races and sailing, windsurfing and treasure hunts. But a lot of learning was done when each college team was forced to stretch the limits of their physical and mental capabilities on an outward bound obstacle course. Each college worked together both individually and as a team to overcome many physical and psychological obstacles. They were only as strong as their weakest person and as fast as their slowest. A trust fall at the end saw each person fall backwards from a high platform and into their teammates arms. This pulled out each others fears and caused everyone to develop a trust in themselves as well as each other.

The week was an emotional rollercoaster touching on issues dealing with burnout, workaholics, trust, developing working groups, and learning effective leadership skills. These student leaders could relate to one another because most had experienced many of the same issues and problems. Everyone left a better person and met many new friends along the way.

The conference was sponsored by the American Youth Foundation and along with a terrific staff, everyone worked to make the conference a success.

NIGHT SP07S

UNDER

Over the past four or five years that we have been here at the University of Lowell, it seems that there was always construction going on somewhere--either in the city or within the University itself.

The bright orange signs broadcasting "UN-DER CONSTRUCTION," "DETOUR," and "PASS AT OWN RISK" seem all too familiar to us all; and not because they can be seen in many of the dorm rooms on campus! Construction in the University parking lots also seemed only to contribute to the already existing problem of lack of parking. While work crews were working, many of the few parking spaces on campus were taken up by trucks and tractors. The Roarke Bridge has also been a major construction bottleneck. Workmen have been delaying traffic there on an almost daily basis. Sewerage line connections have been the cause of many of the traffic delays. At Wood Street, construction has shut off the entire northbound lane from Westford Street to Pawtucket Street. The same problem exists on Pawtucket Boulevard. Several lanes of traffic have all been merged down to two lanes bordered by cement barriers.

CONSTRUCTION

Construction has inconvenienced all of us at one time or another whether it be during the early morning or afternoon commute or simply traveling down Pawtucket Street between campuses, always seemed to be some construction going on that would make us late for class or influence us to skip the class altogether.

Well it is doubtful that there will

Well, it is doubtful that there will ever come a time when there is no inconveniencing construction happening in Lowell, all that we can do is wonder what ULowell would be like without it.

"It was a calm Carnival. There was the traditional warm-up behind Leitch and the beer-tender wore coconuts. The day came crisp and clear--the Biology Club had a rat-race, the French Club sold crullers, and the Activities Commission gave away spiked watermelon. There were wine coolers, Syrian subs, tacos. Orleans played, so did Aztec Two-step and Beaver Brown. They were able to open Broadway Street about 7:00pm. Most of the crowd had gone, leaving the Townies, the litter, and the sleeping soldiers." CARNIVAL '87

WANNALANCIT

Some members of the class of 1987 were among the first to attend computer science classes in the Wanalancit Mill Building. University rental of classroom space in the newly renovated mill, marks the very beginning of a list of proposed changes and additions to the university. Yet, by the time that funding will be acquired and construction completed on these projects, the class of '87 graduates may have been in the work force eight years.

The rental of classroom space in the Wanalancit Mill Building is a precursor to the acquisition by the university of a tenacre mill complex known as The Lawrence Mill Complex. Located off Aiken Street on the university side of the Aiken Street bridge, the new mill campus will be the new site of the College of Engineering, the Computer Science department, and the Center for Productivity Enhancement. Some parking, a library, and a campus center will also be created at this site.

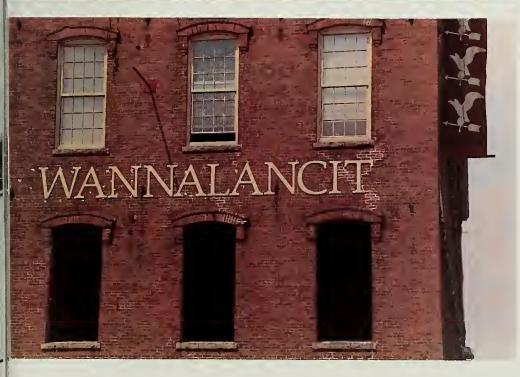

The need for expansion to the University of Lowell is detailed in a study done in 1984-85, which indicated that the university, at that time, lacked some 400,000 square feet of necessary academic space, and may lack as much as 650,000 square feet by 1995.

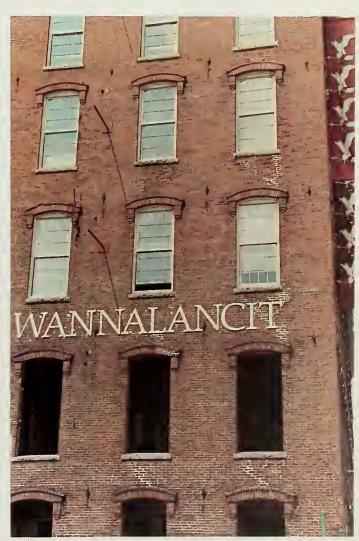

Among the mills the university intends to purchase is the oldest mill in Lowell, a twin tower mill which was built in 1830. This mill is on the National Historic Register and will be renovated rather than be demolished. Other mills may be torn down for courtyard space or be renovated to adequately equip the buildings for the courses which will be held there.

Other changes projected for completion within the next ten years include: the movement of the College of Management to the south campus and the relocation of the schools of arts and sciences to north campus. Additional dormitories and parking facilities are also underway.

But don't complain because our class has missed the use of parking garages . . . be grateful that we won't be here during its construction!

Sue Damiani

NOTE: Due to a severe fire in the mill complex in March 1987, usage of the mills as specified in the preceding article may be altered.

DR. MARY E. McGAUVRAN VICE PRESIDENT OF STUDENT AFFAIRS

Mary E. McGauvran retired an June 30,1987 as Vice President of Student Affairs, after serving her alma mater for thirty-five years.

Dr. McGauvran attended Lowell State College for her undergraduate work and completed her master's and doctor's degree at Boston University, where she taught courses in her major fields, Measurement and Evaluation.

The first grade was Mary McGauvran's first teaching assignment and she served as a master teacher in the Newton Public Schools, with five and six year olds, while acquiring her advanced degrees.

President Daniel O'Leary of Lowell State College persuaded Dr. McGauvran to return to Lowell State and assume the responsibilities of an instructor in Measurement and Evaluation to older students-those who were preparing to teach. Simultaneously, she served as Director of Admissions before advancing to Dean of Administration for both Lowell State and the University. Finally, in 1977, she was appointed to the position of Vice President for Student Affairs.

Since her days as a student, Dr. McGauvran has been a leader. Her Career is a testimony to the power of high calibre professional performance.

Dr. McGauvran enjoys a national reputation in her professional expertise--Test Development and Measurement and Evaluation, but, even more important, she enjoys a reputation in the University community as an uncommonly fair, sensitive and straightforward administrator who has been a steadfast supporter and advocate of students.

Now almost full circle in her career, Dr. McGauvran will resume her role as Professor to beginning elementary teachers in the College of Education in the Fall of 1988.

DR. PATRICIA A. GOLER DEAN, COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

Dr. Patricia A. Goler, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts retired this year after thirty years at the University of Lowell. She came as an instructor in history, advanced through the academic ranks to professor and chairperson of the History Department and, in 1975 at the creation of the University of Lowell, she was named Dean of the College of Liberal Arts. She has served in this position longer than any other college dean in the University.

As a teacher and administrator she has played a significant role in the growth and change in the institution, from her start at what was then a small college offering degrees only in the field of elementary education to the modern, multi-purpose University of today.

She has touched in a very special way the lives of many hundreds of students and faculty over these years and her contributions in the classroom, to the world of scholarship and to the betterment of the University are recognized by all who have known and worked with her. Less well known to the students are the many years of committed and inspirational leadership to the community outside the University and to the cause of education for all the citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusettes. Two honorary degrees awarded to Dr. Goler by other colleges and universities are tangible proofs of her recognition and esteem throughout the state and nation.

ATIONS

DR. JOSEPH THOMAS ASSISTANT DEAN COLLEGE OF MANAGEMENT SCIENCE

Dean Thomas joined the faculty at ULowell in 1973 as an instructor in Analytical Methods and in Business Policy and Organizational Behavior. In 1978, Dean Thomas became an Associate Professor and then, in 1982, became the acting Assistant Dean of the College of Management Science. In 1983, he became the Assistant Dean. Since then, he has been very active in bringing in many muchneeded changes within the college and has been greatly successful in establishing a very good relationship with the undergraduate students as well as with the faculty and staff.

He has been a friend of and a listener to the student; he is one who realizes the confusing situations students can sometimes find themselves in. He will undoubtedly be missed.

"I am here," he said, "to assist and help others, especially the students, not to direct them from department to department."

We here at the University of Lowell wish him and his family a very happy future.

ORGANIZATIONS

he University of Lowell offers a variety of exciting clubs and organizations to the student body. There is something for everyone. There are entertaining and adventurous clubs, ethnic, political and professional/career orientated organizations, student support groups and just about anything else you can imagine.

If there is not a club or organization that suits your interests, then you can begin a new club that does meet those interests. In the past, such clubs as the Society of Capitalists, The Women's Swim Club, and The Null Set of Electrical Engineers have come and gone according to current student body interests.

In the following pages, many of the clubs and organizations that the University of Lowell has to offer can be seen.

The Alpine Club's goals are to expose club members to the outdoors. Club activities include camping, hiking, rock-climbing, and canoeing. Students form their own trips with the aid of officers.

The American Meteorological Society (AMS) is an active organization at the University of Lowell. Activities include fundraisers, seminars and field trips relevant to meteorology, a climb up Mount Washington, an annual outing and other various activities. The advisor of the club is Dr. Frank Colby and the officers are: President - Nicolino Quici, Vice President - Scott Mandia, and Secretary/Treasurer - Chris Keohan.

AMERICAN PRODUCTION AND INVENTORY CONTROL SOCIETY

APICS (The American Production and Inventory Control Society) is a professional society within the College of Management Science which promotes an awareness of systems involved in manufacturing as they relate to materials, production and inventory control. This is accomplished through guest speaker seminars, plant tours, regional meetings and certification examinations.

President: Rick Desmarais Vice President: Dick Gavin Treasurer: Kevin Dick

The purpose of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) is to provide students the opportunity to begin their professional careers by joining a professional engineering society. Also, to make students more aware of recent developments in the field of mechanical engineering through publications and activities of the ASME. Each year a Regional Student Conference is held for all the engineering schools in Eastern Massachusetts. This promotes fellowship and interaction with other ASME student sections and senior sections.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The American Society for Quality Control (ASQC) is the newest professional society within the College of Engineering. The purpose of the society is to promote the advancement of the theory and practice of quality control. The society also encourages professional standing and the opportunity to meet practicing engineers and managers through regular chapter meetings.

This club was established in 1975 to help in providing a unity among biology students and faculty. The members of the club work together as a team to help each other grow. Through various fundraisers the club is able to bring distinguished lecturers to the department. As a group the club goes on various trips that allow the members to become closer and to meet new people.

Campus Ambassadors is an interdenominational Christian Fellowship group with chapters in colleges throughout the country. Their goal is to give the Christian college student an opportunity to grow in the Lord through prayer, song and college level Bible studies.

The Chinese Students Circle (CSC) at the University of Lowell was founded in the late 1960's by a group of young and enthusiastic Chinese students. The purpose of CSC is to enhance the academic and social advancement of its members, to represent the members in University affairs and to establish the common interests and better communication among its members and with other components of the University community.

The Connector is the student newspaper of the University of Lowell. It is student written, compiled, and published. All students are encouraged to take an active role in campus activities and the newspaper provides an excellent opportunity to learn about the University and about the creative world of newpaper publishing. The paper is close to the pulse of the everyday heartbeat that makes the University flow. That closeness makes for interesting and enlightening moments.

The Movie Division is a part of the Audio-Visual Society. We are one of the two major forms of entertainment for the student population at the University. Each week on Tuesday and Wednesday night we show top name movies for the students to enjoy. The admission is free with a valid l.D. card and the movies we show are those which have recently left the theatre circuit. During University Week in second semester, we present the "24-Hour Film Festival". This is the time that we bring back popular films from the past and show them continuously for 24 hours.

The Null Set of Electrical Engineers is a group of academically excellent sophomores. We are not recognized by the University as a club, but deserve some recognition. We are the future engineers of America and proud of it.

The Pre-Law Society brings together students that have an interest in pursuing a law degree after having completed their degree requirements. The underlying theme of the society is the application process and successful acceptance to law school. The society meets bimonthly. Activities include trips to law schools. Practicing attorneys and current law school students are invited as speakers each semester.

The Society for Advancement of Management (SAM) is the club that gets things done. We offer the opportunity for a student to grow with an organization that has been established on this campus long before the University of Lowell was founded. We offer the activities that a career-minded student is looking for like workshops on resume writing and interviewing.

Slow Start, Fast Finish!

After five games with a record of 0-3-2 the season did not look promising for the University of Lowell Field Hockey Team. Injuries and a new playing system implemented by first year head coach Barbara Gosselin where the main problems at the beginning of the season. "It was because we were playing a whole different game," commented Gosselin about the slow start. "It just took time for things to come together." And come together it did. The chiefs won 9 of the last 11 games for an overall record of 9-5-2.

This turnaround was due in large part to the offensive efforts of Junior Therese Viau (2 goals, 8 Assists); Senior Donna Tully (4 goals, 4 assists); and Junior Kathy Lyons (3 goals, 5 assists). Also instrumental in this winning season was the play of 5th year senior Kim Furlong (1.14 goals against avg) in her first year of field hockey play. "She really rose to the occasion." stated Gosselin. Playing well on defense were senior Sharon Scott, sophomore Kathy Zaino, and junior Nancy Alexander.

The outlook for next season is promising. "We're in very good shape for next year." stated Gosselin. The Chiefs only lose Donna Tully, Chris Heigh, and Kim Furlong.

Unsettled Season.

The University of Lowell Football team had a very unsettled season, ending with a 2-7 record. The chiefs had chances to win as many as four of those losses, but costly mistakes and penalties prevented this. Injuries to numerous players, including nine starters, causing them to miss games, played a key role in the season results. The problems in the beginning of first year head coach Dennis Scannell's season were 'because of the new staff and so many new players, we kept moving people around. It wasn't until the sixth game of the season that we finally got things settled the way we wanted them."

Despite the poor record there were some new school records set by many great individual efforts. Sophmore Jim Mogauro broke one run against Bowdoin for 80 yards, the longest in school history. Junior Jeff Vecchi completed a school record 12 straight passes over two games. Junior Cornerback Mark Ciccarelli tied the school record for most intereceptions in a season with five. Senior offensive guard Kevin Fontes had a school record 79-yard punt against WPI. Senior wide receiver John Copley closed out his fantastic college career by leading the team in receiving for the fourth straight season. He had 34 receptions for 424 yards and finished his career with 156 receptions fore 1928 yards and seven touchdowns. Copley caught at least one pass in all 35 games he played, one shy of the NCAA Divison three record. Senior cornerback Alan Maillett tied Junior Mickey Simmons for the lead in fumble recoveries for the season with three. Two seniors receivied awards at the end of the season. One was center Mark Bedrosian who was named the Unsung Hero. The other was wide receiver John Copley who was the recipient of the Coaches Award. The future looks promising for the football team. Next season the chiefs are joining the New England Football Conference after seven years as a Division Three Independent. Coach Scannell is optimistic that the team will have the opportunity to win a lot of games.

The Goal Was Almost Achieved.

Although the University of Lowell Soccer team failed to reach first year coach Sean McGowan's goal of .500, the overall play of the team was promising. The team ended the season with a 4-10-1 overall record and a 1-5 conference record. Despite the fact that the record could have been better it was an improvement over the previous years record of 1-13-1 and the team won its first conference game since the 1983 season.

There were many solid, individual efforts during the season. One such effort was on the part of senior Tony Kataxinos who directed Lowell with a five goal and four assist season. Kataxinos, who was named the team's most valuable player, will not be returning next year. However, freshman Patt Harrington (3 goals, 3 assists),

"The job next year is to turn those 2-1 losses into 2-1 victories."

and junior Paul Amato (3 goals, 3 assists) should be able to carry the load next season. The goaltending also looks strong as freshman Mike MacIntosh finished off the season with a 2.42 goals against average and 3-4-1 record. McGowan will lose a total of only three seniors which should create a strong sense of optimism for next year. The seniors are Kataxinos, Charlie Killian and Scott Slomba.

Last season was a frusting year which began with a bang, crashed during the middle of the season, but was revived at the end. Lowell's major problem was the inability to win close games or conference games. The only conference game the chiefs won was against Sacred Heart. There were a number of games where the chiefs had a lead and they simply could not hold it. They lost three games by a total of three goals which hurt the team's morale. Two postponements did not help the situation as the chiefs had no luck in getting a goal in five straight games. During this stretch, the chiefs were outscored by a 25 - 0 margin. The team demonstrated character with a pair of victories where they outscored their opponents 7 - 0.

Next year looks promising with the return of most of the players. The goal of .500 was not reached this year but could very well be attained next year.

Win Some, Lose Some.

The University of Lowell Women's tennis team posted a 5-6 season's record. The team with eight returning players had some problems the first half of the season, losing five of six games. The second half of the season went better for the team winning four of the next five games.

There where some great individual efforts on the team. Kara Muller won 6 and lost 2 singles matches and won 5 and lost 2 doubles matches for an overall win percentage of 73. Holly Homsey went 4 - 3 in singles and 5 - 2 doubles for an overall 64 win percentage. Also playing well where Uri Labadini (3 - 3 singles; 3 - 3 doubles) and Christine Morris (5 - 6 singles; 6 - 5 doubles) both with an overall win percentage of 50.

"There were some great individual efforts on the team."

Dedication Pays Off In Most Successful Season Ever!

The Cross Country team had its most successful season ever in 1986. The team finished 8th in the nation in Division II and number one in New England. Of the seven members on the team, two of them were All-Americans. Dave Dunham was rated 4th overall and John Cotton rated 18th. They finished with a 7-3 record and faced stiff competition all season. Beginning in September, they opened strong against Dartmouth with U Lowell scoring 55 to Dartmouth's 56. Dartmouth was rated the second best team in the country in Division I.

The team expected to make it to the Nationals even before the season began. The team's foundation was built upon enthusiasm, pride, and integrity, and everyone gave their best effort to succeed. Co-Captain Rick Dawe noted that "everyone was dedicated to the team," and Co-Captain Dave Dunham added that "we all gave up a lot for the team."

The runners work out every day and run an average of 85 miles a week. You can usually see them running in the Tyngsboro, Dracut, and Pelham, NH areas. The meets are often against several competitors and are either 5 or 6.2 miles in length. Each team member runs the entire race and points are awarded to each team depending upon the place each of their seven runners finish.

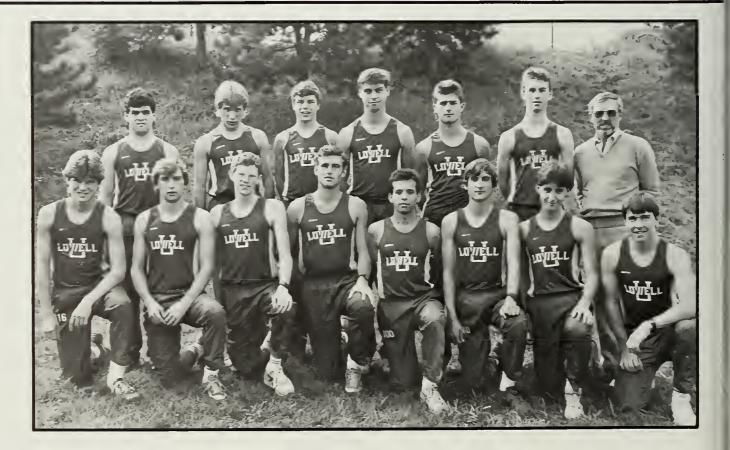

Perhaps the most disappointing event of the season occurred in November at the Nationals. Two members of U

Lowell's team came down with the flu and were unable to compete. Coach George Davis felt that this team could have done even better had that not happened. "We could have come in second or third, possibly."

The clutchest performance of the season went for naught. Leading the ECAC championship for Division II at the 5 mile mark in a 6.2 mile race, someone diverted the runners the wrong direction and the race was thrown out.

The Winning Season!

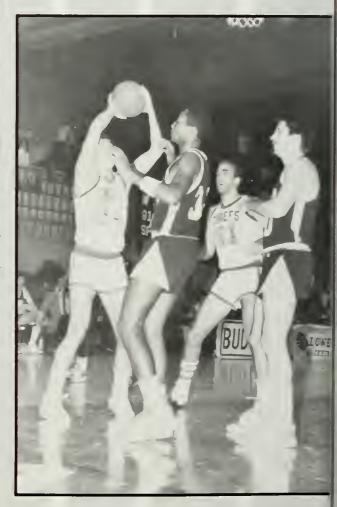

The ULowell Men's Basketball team finished the diamond anniversary season with the best record ever. The Chiefs went 21-8 to become the first team in it's 75 year history to win 20 or more games. Fourth year coach Don Doucette's club was picked to finish fifth in the preseason coaches poll, but destroyed that prediction by tying for the regular season championship with an 11-3 NECC record. The chiefs then made it to the semi-finals in the playoffs, losing to the eventual series champs Sacred Heart.

"We're very pleased with the end results."

"We're very pleased with the end results," Commented Doucette. "We came into the season anticipating turning the program around. We set goals at the beginning of the season and more than accomplished what we set out to do."

With no seniors on the team the future looks very promising. This was a team with five members starting there third year and really developing their potential. Eleven team and individual records fell this season and many more should tumble next season. Along with the new school records where other accomplishments. Doucette was named the NECC Coach of the Year. Also Leo Parent and Bobby Licare where named to both the New England Collegiate Conference's All-Conference first team and the National Accociation of Basketball coaches All-District One second team.

Up They Went!

The University of Lowell Women's Basketball team had nowhere to go but up after the dismal 85-86 record of 1-24. They succeeded in going up from this point and much more. The team finished the season with a greatly improved record of 11-16, (7-7 in NECC). The 11 wins are the most by the UL women's basketball club since the 1976-77 team went 12-3. This club, coached by second year head coach Kathy O'Neil, was picked to finish last in the coaches preseason poll. They did better than this prediction and where seeded third for the post-season tournament. The chiefs posted their first ever NECC playoff victory defeating Bridgeport in the quarterfinals. They later lost to New Hampshire College in the semi-final round.

The chiefs began the season poorly in the first semester with a 1-8 record going into the winter recess. This record was bettered the second half of the season when the club went 10-8 while playing some of the best basketball since the 1980-81 campaign. "I think we became more experienced and played together more as a unit as the season progressed," commented O'Neil.

The play of many was consequential in the season end results but none more than the play of Senior Karen Hanney. Hanney led the chiefs in scoring with a season average 11.4 points per game. This guard-forward scored 112 field goals and 83 free throws for 307 points in 27 games. Overall she led the team in eight offensive categories including assists (79) and steals (51). In her four seasons she played 98 games, scoring 649 points, pulling down 282 rebounds, and dishing out 189 assists. Second to Hanney in scoring was freshman guard Missy Montini who averaged 9.1 ppg. Next was freshman Nancy Thornton averaging 6.7 ppg. Also contributing to the team in her last season was center Kathy Lynch who averaged 6.5 ppg and 5.7 rebounds per game and led the team in block shots with 66. She finished her career with a school record 288 blocks to go along with 6.9 ppg and 6.8 rpg in 84 contests. The only other senior on the team was Louise Smith who finished the season with 2.4 ppg, 2.1 rpg and dished out 73 assists. She finished her three year career scoring 351 points in 77 games and handed out 249 assists. Her court presence and leadership in the second semester was one of the key reasons for the chiefs surge.

The chiefs are looking to again improve upon their record next season. The sentiments of O'Neil reflect these goals. "Next year we'd like to have a .500 or better record. I think this year was great and we did really well. We had a lot of enthusiasm and hard work. We had a lot to accomplish and we accomplished some of our goals."

"I think we became more experienced and played together more as a unit as the season progressed."

Perfect? Maybe Next Year.

The University of Lowell mens Gymnastics squad had a less than perfect season. The team started the season right with a win over Dartmouth. Unfortunately they lost the next match, a close meet against the University of Vermont, and continued this losing way for the next two meets. The team then came back and won the next two before losing the last meet of the regular season. The overall total for the team was 3 wins and 4 losses. The team did manage to place third in the New England Championships with a score of 197.65

Outstanding individual efforts in a less than perfect season

Although the season was not the best for the team as a whole there where some high points. Outstanding individual efforts in a less than perfect season where the key. Senior Barry Sutter an All-American set a new school record of 9.70 on the Still Rings. He also did well in many major competitions. Sutter placed second in the E.C.A.C. Championships, tied for the New England Championship, placed fourth in the U.S.G.F. All-American competitions, and placed 14th in the N.C.A.A. Gymnastics Championships all on the Still Ring. Another great individual accomplishment was that of Tom Vining who took 22nd place in the U.S.G.F. Championships, All-Around. There were also great efforts from all the other member of the team although not listed here.

This team will be looking to improve its record next year. This year marked the final season for Fred Plouff who has coached the team since the 1983-84 season. Plouff coached two All-americans during his tenure, John Knowles and Barry Sutter. Whoever the new coach is will hopefully have the opportunity to also coach some All-Americans on the ULowell team.

Roster: co-captain David Bloom, David Henderson, Joel Hughes, Calton Lincoln, John Moran, Chris Rust, co-captain Barry Sutter, Andre Vermette, Tom Vining. Head Coach Fred Plouff.

Skating To Victory!

The ULowell Skating Chiefs had a tremendous season. This team, picked to finish sixth in the Hockey East coaches preseason poll, finished second with 20-10-2 in HE and 22-12-2 overall. This was the chiefs best season since moving to Division One in 1983 and Hockey East in 1984.

"Our Preseason goals were to finish in the top four slots and get a home berth in the playoffs. Then we wanted to get to the (Boston) Garden for the Final Four and ultimately to win Hockey East," Commented head coach Bill Riley who was named Hockey East Coach of the Year. "Two out of three goals were obtained and it looked like we'd get a shot at the third with five minutes left." The second place finish of the Chiefs eamed them an automatic berth in the Hockey East Final Four. From there it looked like they would be in the finals and the NCAA Division One tournament. Unfortunately it was not to be. The chiefs came within five minutes of winning the semi-final round against UMaine but lost when the Black Bears made a dramatic come back from 2 goals down with less than five minutes to play.

Generally speaking the team played very well all season. There where high points and low points in the season and great efforts and improvements by many. One need only list the roster to identify the great players on the team. A few of the outstanding players on the team were Junior center Jon Morris with 28 goals and 33 assists, Freshman right wing Randy LeBrasseur 20 goals and 19 assists, Junior left wing Jim Newhouse 12 goals and 24 assists, Junior center Bill Dohaney 13 goals and 22 assists, Junior right wing Tony LoPilato 13 goals and 25 assists. Morris led the team in scoring for the third straight year and is now the fifth alltime leading scorer with 177 points. On Defense, Tim Foley, 10 goals and 14 assists, tied the league record for most goals by a defenseman in one season with nine goals in Hockey East play. Also outstanding on defense was Senior co-captain Paul Ames who closed his career with 17 goals and 57 assists in 133 games after netting 7 goals and 16 assists this season. Ames ranks second on the school's all-time list for games played. Junior defense partner Carl Valimont rounds out the top ten scorers with 17 points on 9 goals and 9 assists. Freshman Ken Stein and Junior Dave Delfino finished the season with nearly identical goals against averages. Stein 7-4-0 and 4.11 goals against and Delfino 14-6-1 and 4.12 goals against. Delfino played as well as any goalie in the league until he was hurt in early January.

The chiefs will only be losing two seniors Paul Ames and center Paul Mahan. Next year

The chiefs will only be losing two seniors Paul Ames and center Paul Mahan. Next year should be the championship since this years fantastic team will return virtually intact with many fourth year players. Next years captains will be Jon Morris, Jim Newhouse, and Carl Valimont as voted by their teammates. These three should lead a strong team to a strong season.

"Our preseason goal was to finish in the top four slots and get a home berth in the playoffs."

Losing Season For L.U.S.T.

It was a long and hard year for L.U.S.T., the Lowell University Swim Team. Winning against Keene State was the teams second win of the season-their first and last.

Despite an overall disappointing season, there where some great individual efforts. Three new school records were set. Freshman Rich Daniello set a new school record for the 100 yard as well as the 200 yard backstroke. Freshman Tom Tiano also set a new school record in the 1650 Freestyle event.

In addition to the three newly set school records, the following individual awards were made:

STEVE BELLETETE Captain-elect for 1987-88
RICH DANIELLO All-New England,200 Backstroke
Team high point trophy
Most Valuable Swimmer
RICH DOOLEY 3rd place high point trophy
KEN KELLY Captain-elect for 1987-88
Unsung Hero Award
TOM TIANO 2nd place high point trophy

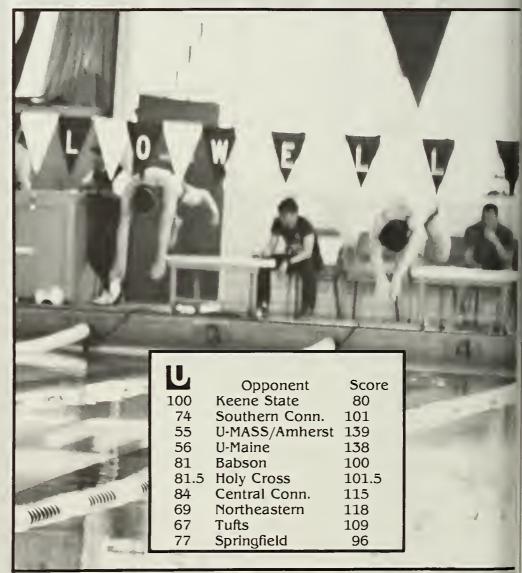

Since this year was disappointing for the team they can only hope to improve next year. Coach Dick Kenney will need to get a larger team with more depth. The depth will be particularly needed in breaststroke, butterfly, and freestyle. Since the team is losing only one senior, Greg McIver, it will not be so young and will have a good chance to

It Was A Grand Slam Season!

The ULowell Baseball Chiefs posted a 27-11 overall record this season and set a school record for most wins, surpassing the old mark of 26 victories set by the 1981 and 1984 teams. In the NCAA tournament, the Chiefs lost in the opening round to host Le Moyne College, then came back to eliminate Philadelphia Textile before losing a heart breaking decision to Le Moyne for the right to face New Haven in the championship round of the double elimination event.

"I'm not surprised that we won 27 games. I knew we were going to be good."

Six members of the record setting team have been named to the New England Collegiate Conference all-star team, as voted by the conference's head coaches. Voted to the All-NECC first team were Senior Ross Madore and Sophomore Joe Luis. Named to the second team were Junior Chris Riley, Sophomore John Spencer, Senior Paul Gedman and Sophomore Steve Bieksha.

Ross Madore was also named to the AlI-New England Divison Two which is comprised of members of all Division Two teams throughout the region. Madore established a new school record for most at bats and led the team in runs scored and base hits. For his four year career, Madore hit .367 with nine home runs and 78 RBI's. This season, he hit .343 with five home runs, 38 RBI's, seven stolen bases, and had 16 multiple hit games.

"We try to win whatever it takes to get into the regional tournament," commented head coach Jim Stone. "I'm not surprised that we won 27 games. I knew we were going to be good."

Coach Stone, who guided his Chiefs to their winningest record in school history this spring, has been named Co-Coach of the Year in the New England Collegiate Conference. Stone, who has been at ULowell for 21 years, shared the honor with the University of New Haven's Frank Vieira.

Junior second baseman Mark Grams has been named captain for the 1988 ULowell team. A three-year starter, Grams holds six school records. He is also within reach of numerous career records as

It appears that with a leadoff man like Grams and roster of able players, the Chiefs will be on to another winning season next spring.

Injuries Detrimental To Laxman.

Head coach Steve Connolly's team had to battle bad weather and injuries all season to have a chance at the Colonial League Championship. Going into their final contest of the season, the ULowell Lacrosse team had a chance to share the Colonial League Championship if they could upset league leader Holy Cross. On a rain soaked muddy field, the Chief's gave it their best shot before succumbing 9-7 to finish the 1987 season at 8-6 and third in the Colonial League at 5-2.

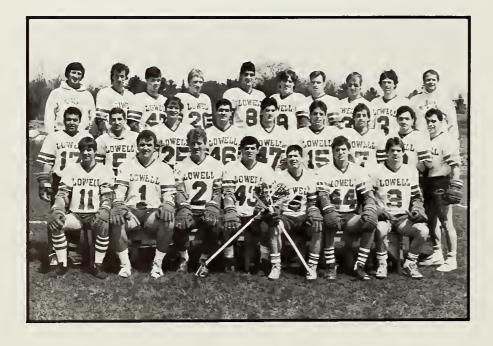

Considering all of the critical injuries, Connolly was pleased with his team's performance. "The season went about as we expected it would. We beat the teams we felt we could beat and lost to the teams that we didn't have enough troops to play with," summarized the sixth-year coach. "We expected to finish between 8-6 and 10-4 this spring. Injuries played a big part in our season."

The Chiefs lost senior Steve Murphy after the third game due to a calf injury in practice that took the rest of the season to heal. "He would have been all-league this year if he weren't hurt. He was one of our leading scorers," commented coach Connolly. The Chiefs also lost the services of Tommy Peck for three games during the year due to an ankle injury.

The future looks good for the Chiefs according to Connolly. "I was very happy with the development of freshman Steve Falvey and Jamie Jackson and the continued improvement of Pete Smyronis and Tom Mahoney."

Connolly concluded that, "if we can get a couple of players to fill some deffensive holes and in goal, we could be a pretty good club next year." Above all, the team never quit. Everyone hung together and kept playing hard, despite setbacks, in the true spirit of ULowell pride.

``Injuries played a big part in our season.''

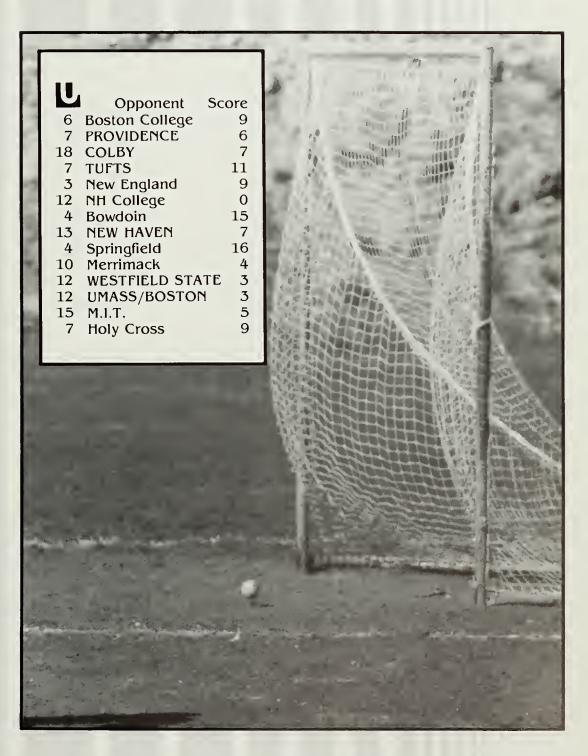

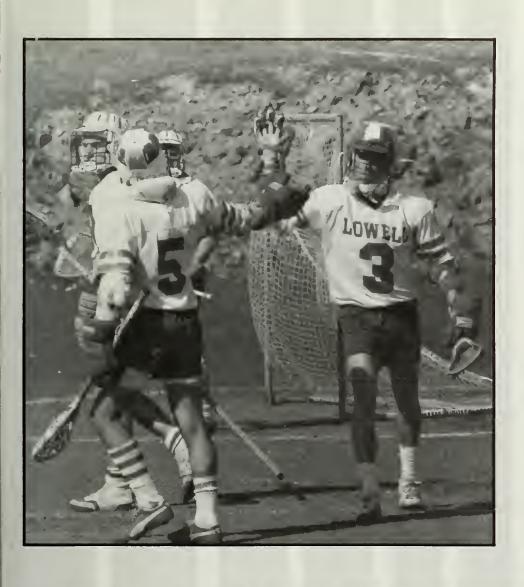

Staying At The Top!

Behind the strong pitching of Senior cocaptain Sheri Russell, the ULowell Lady Chiefs Softball team captured their first ECAC Division Two New England-Upstate New York Softball Championship. The Chiefs finished the 1987 season with a very impressive 24-8 season.

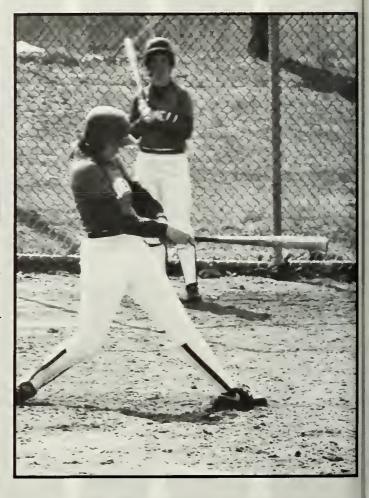

Five players of this years championship team were named to the All-New England Collegiate Conference squad. Voted to the first team by the leagues eight head coaches were Teresa Padvaiska, Nancy Specht, "With all the problems we had to endure this year, it was a good season."

and Chris Dunham. Named to the second team were Heather Coyle and Lorna Tompkins. In addition, Specht and Padvaiskas were named to the All-New England Division Two squad and played in the New-England All Star game.

"From my standpoint, with all the problems we had to endure this year, it was a good season, "commented head coach Jim DeFazio. "Losing one of the top pitchers in the country for three weeks could have been devastating, but this team came together and sophomore Chris Dunham kept us afloat." The Chiefs suffered a tremendous three-week loss when Sheri Russell, the best pitcher in the nation amoung Division Two hurlers, hurt her right shoulder. She returned to the squad in late April to help the team pick up a key doubleheader sweep at Quinnipiac.

It's always easier getting to the top than staying at the top, but that is exactly what the 1987 ULowelll softball team did this season after winning the New England Collegiate Conference championship last season.

The school's all-time leader in home runs, Teresa Padviaskas and junior Kim O'Connell were named co-captains of the 1988 team. It is likely that these leaders will keep their team at the top once again.

A Winning Raquet.

The ULowell Men's Tennis Team had an awesome year. The team finished with an overall record of 8-1. The year was marked by a large number of impressive tournament results as well as many fantastic individual accomplishments. Among the tournaments attended was the N.E.I.T.A Championships where the chiefs finished 8th of 32 which was the 2nd best finish by the tennis team in ULowell history. Other tournament results included the ULowell Singles Invitational where the chiefs finished 2nd of 5, the Merrimack Invitational Doubles 2nd of 8, and the N.E.C.C. Championships where the chiefs finished 1st of 5. This team was ranked 6th in the I.T.C.A. Div II Eastern U.S. polls all season.

2nd best finish in ULowell history!

Ron Love was the biggest winner on the team. He won 14 and lost 5 singles matches while winning 11 and losing 4 doubles matches. His overall career record was 43-14 in singles and 50-18 in doubles. Also palying very well where Rodney Robito 13-4 and 11-4, John McCarthy 11-2 and 13-2, Scott Janes 11-1 and 12-5, Joe Flanigan 10-6 and 13-5, and Paul Mucci 10-4 and 13-2. Flanigan joined the top ten all time ULowell match winners with a career total of 43-16. Love was ranked 18th in Eastern U.S. I.T.L.A. Division Il poll. He also became the first ULowell player to amass 50 wins in doubles and the #2 all-time ULowell match winner with a career record of 93-32. McCarthy became the #8 all time ULowell match winner with a career record of 51-9. He also had the best match winning percentage in ULowell history.

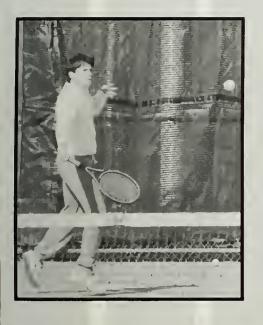

Overall, head coach Duke Diaz has reason to be very proud of his team. They played well and won. Things look good for the future of this team.

Roster: Curtis Dalton, Johathan Davis, Robert DiMatteo, Joe Flanigan, Robert Gram, Scott Janes, Srinath Kalluri, co-captain Ronald Love, co-captain John McCarthy, Paul Mucci, Robert Paradis, Rodney Robito. Coach Duke Diaz.

Year In Qeview his past year has been one of celebration and scandal, of progress and change, and of new beginnings. This country celebrated the 100-th birthday of two of America's landmarks; the Statue of Liberty on July 4,1986 and that of Hollywood in February 1987. The party for the Statue of Liberty was a three day long extravaganza full of activities across the country. There was a tall ship parade in New York Harbor, many musical performances and a grandiose fireworks display. Hundreds of new American citizens were sworn in in a nation-wide nationally televised naturalization ceremony. In February, there was a celebration of Hollywood's first one hundred years. Hollywood has long been known as La La Land, Tinseltown, Cocaine Gulch, and a celebrity zoo. It's also a playpen for some of the worlds most beautiful and intriguing people. There has never been any place like it nor will there ever be. Scandal was also a major quality of this past year. IRANSCAM, probably the largest political scandal since Watergate, involved the selling of missles to Iran and depositing the monies into a secret Swiss bank account set up by the CIA. President Reagan claimed ignorance over the entire deal and that the only two officials that knew of the deal were NSC Aide Oliver North and National Security Advisor John Poindexter. In late November of 1986, both North and Poindexter left the NSC. It was not until March of 1987 that President Reagan held a news conference to brave the onslaught of reporters. However, the President put to rest only the more obvious questions yet not too conclusively only stating that any further discussion would invariably lead to repetitious circles. Yet another scandal of the past year was the Marine spy scandal in which a Marine confessed that he had succumbed to the charms of a Soviet receptionist in Moscow and reportedly allowed her to travel through some of the most sensitive areas of the U.S. Embassy. Many more members of the U.S. Marines were also accused of spying incidents.

Gary Hart, the front running Democratic Presidential Candidate dropped out of the race mid-May, 1987 when it was revealed that he spent time entertaining an actress from Miami. Hart denied any accusations of adultry yet his popularity slid. He then desribed himself as a "hunted quarry" and withdrew from the race, denouncing the political process. Questions were then raised about when an inquiry into a politician's private behavior is legitimate.

he world of politics was not the only area in which scandal was evident in this past year. The world of religion was also touched. A sex and money scandal forced Jim and Tammy Bakker to leave their multimillion dollar spiritual program and to seek refuge in California. Jim Bakker appeared on his PTL TV network and told his viewers that he was leaving to stop to "diabolical plot" of other evangelical networks takeover his church. It was also revealed that Bakker had committed adultry with both other men and women. His wife Tammy appeared to be very forgiving. Later in May, James Bakker was ousted from the church of Assemblies of God.

Within the past year, America has undergone a full scale anti-drug crusade. In August of 1986, President Reagan called for a "national crusade" against drugs suggesting employer drug testing requirements for their employees. The current Administration has nearly doubled the budget appropriations for drug-enforcement. First Lady Nancy Reagan launched a "just say no" campaign in 1984 and, two years later, this subject has become one of the Presidents major concerns also. Now, it seems that wherever one looks, there are slogans against drugs, television programs are also utilizing anti-drug storylines to get the message across to the American society.

Surrogate mothers have also been in the spot light for much of the past year. The major case has been that of Baby M. which began when Mary Beth Whitehead decided to keep the child which she had agreed to carry for William Stern. The Sterns agreed to pay Whitehead $10,000 and the same amount to the Infertility Center of New York where the Sterns "found" Whitehead. They also agreed to pay Whiteheads medical costs. After the child was bom in March of 1986, Whitehead began to have second thoughts about handing over the child. All throughout the summer of 1986, Baby M. was searched for by police and a private detective for the Whiteheads had taken and hidden her in Florida. Early in 1987, the case was resolved by the New Jersey Family Court awarding the child to her father, William Stem.

verall, this past year proved to be one that kept us all on the edge of our seats; from celebration to catastrophe and from scandal to honor. It has been a year of growing, learning and probably most of all, questioning. Questioning the reliability and sincerity of our leaders and our institutions. On the positive side, we have seen more involvement by members of the private sector in issues of national concern such as the AIDS crisis and the war on drugs. School year 1986-1987 was truly a year that we will all remember for one reason or another.

A Tribute . . .

1987 brings with it the twenty-fifth anniversary of the tragic death of Marilyn Monroe, one of the most famous stars in Hollywoods's history.

Lee Strasberg effectively stated what Marilyn Monroe really was in his eulogy at her funeral ceremony: "Marilyn Monroe was a legend. In her own lifetime she created a myth of what a poor girl from a deprived background could attain. For the entire world she became a symbol of the eternal feminine...We gathered here today knew Marilyn - a warm human being, impulsive and shy, sensitive and in fear of rejection, yet ever avid for life and reaching out for fulfillment."

And It Rained, And Rained, And Rained.

In early April of 1987 swollen rivers threatened central and eastern parts of Massachusettes, as well as southern parts of New Hampshire. A state of emergency was declared in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine with many residents and businesses being evacuated to safer areas. This flood was deemed the worst flood seen by the area in over fifty years.

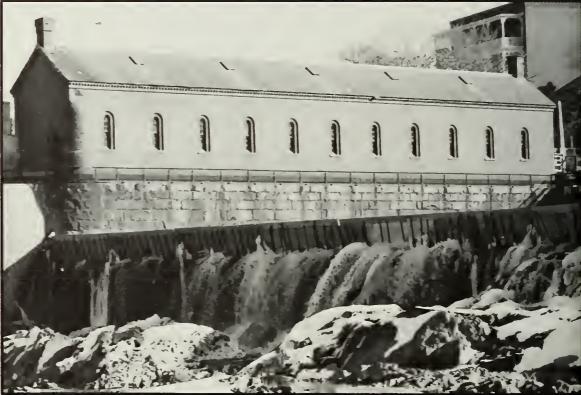

The flood began when thirteen inches of torrential downpour fell on most of Massachusetts. The rain continued for almost four entire days without relief. Many area residences and businesses were submerged under six feet of water.

Plans were made for the potential evacuation of Leitch and Bourgeois halls in the event that power outages resulting from water in the conduits. Dean King stated that the two residence halls were in no danger of being flooded due to the fact that they were both built on 100 year old flood planes. The 100 year old flood plane, based on engineering studies concerning river flow, guarantees that excessively high waters will not enter the structures. "The foundations were a separate contract because the land is filled with broken down tenements and landfill, so extra money was spent in planning the foundations. They are water tight because of the engineering design that went into them," reported Dean King.

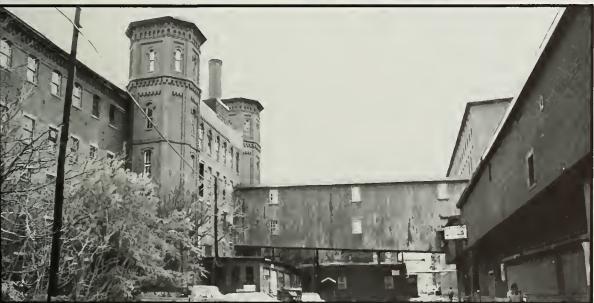

And It Burned, And Burned, And Burned.

At approximately 5:30pm on March 23,1987, the beginning of what developed into a ten-alarm uncontrollable fire raged through several mill buildings at the Aiken Street bridge. Two mills were destroyed and two others were severely damaged.

Thousands of students flocked to the scene of the inferno and several ULowell students were seen helping the firefighters with hoses and crowd control. The blaze was so intense that it could be seen from miles around. Fire officials were concerned about nearby buildings, including Fox Hall, which were completely exposed to burning embers flying in the turbulences caused by the blaze. The following morning, many residents from Lowell, Chelmsford, Dracut, and Pelham NH, reported ashes, soot, and debris on their property.

The mill complex was being eyed as a key part of the Universities expansion plan for the next few years. Mr. Don Briselden, Facilities Manager, stated that none of the mills had been purchased as of the date of the fire. He also stated that many of the key buildings that the university was looking at were untouched. The university still plans on going through with their expansion plans for the mills by either renovating or rebuilding them.

EDITOR'S STATEMENT

"We Have Made It!"

he College Experience... it is something that everyone here at the University of Lowell goes through everyday. It includes the good times and the bad, the studying and the partying, the making of new friends and the saying goodbye to old friends, the frustration of exams and the joy of the end of the semester. In fact, everything we do is part of this experience; one that we can never forget. It is a time of growing up and expanding our horizons, of setting goals and finding the means to reach them. The graduating class of 1987 has reached one of these goals . . . we have made it! It is both scary and relaxing. For some, it is now time to enter into the "real world" and begin families of our own. For others, it is on to graduate school where we can continue in the safe and secure environment of school.

If nothing else, college is a time to determine who we are and what we want to do. We have all changed so much since out freshman year. We entered into a totally new environment and had to learn much about responsibility. There was no longer someone watching over us and telling us what to do. We were now responsible for ourselves. Through the help of friends we made it to those early morning classes after late nights of partying. In the future when we look back on our years at U. Lowell, we will realize that the bad times were not as bad as they seemed when they were happening and we will appreciate just how good the good times were.

In closing, as we say goodbye to the University, to our friends and professors, let us not forget our College Experiences . . . these past four years have been the best; Good luck to all in your future endeavors, whatever they may be. We have made it this far, learned to overcome any obstacles, and there is no reason why we cannot reach all of our goals, however high they may be.

Once again, Good Luck and Congratulations!
